ROCKLAND COUNTY BAR ASSOCIATION

NEWSBRIEF

www.rocklandbar.org

April 2018

To The Members of the RCBA;

Spring is upon us and this time of year brings a hope for new beginnings and new adventures...and hopefully some warmer weather too!

RCBA has been working hard to bring you many events and programming over these past few months. We offered a joint-program with the New York State Bar Association where we offered CLE credits for the newly required Diversity and Inclusion CLE. It was an excellent program, one of which we hope to offer again. Rockland County Mock Trial is well underway with preliminary rounds completed and the semi-finals around the corner. Our Committee, Staff, Attorney Advisors and Judges have worked immensely hard throughout the Mock Trial season and we are greatly appreciative of all of their efforts. However, the true stars are the High School Students from Clarkstown North, Clarkstown South, North Rockland, Albertus Magnus and Nyack High Schools. Truly, these students could run circles around the members of our Bar. It is a pleasure to see them excel and take pride in their work. I encourage you all to attend the final Round which will be held at Supreme Court, Rockland County on April 19, 2018. More details will follow.

As a reminder, 2018 marks the start of the RCBA's 125th Anniversary! The 125th Committee is underway and working to make this year very special. Please call the Bar Association if you are interested in joining this noteworthy committee.

Whether you are interested in joining a committee, attending a CLE or networking with members of the Bar, I encourage you to explore our Association and all it has to offer. I look forward to seeing you all soon.

Until Then, My Best;
Andrea F. Composto, Esq.

COMMERCIAL LITIGATION ISSUES OF INTEREST

April 2018

Submitted by Paul Savad, Esq.

Chair, Commercial and Corporate Law Committee,

Joseph Churgin, Esq., and Susan Cooper, Esq., of

SAVAD CHURGIN, LLP, Attorneys at Law

Your client, a fire district, received a building permit to construct a communications pole with antennas on fire department property to improve its communications system. When construction began, a nearby property owner applied to the Zoning Board of Appeals to revoke the permit. The ZBA granted the application, in part under SEQRA, and revoked the permit. You commence an Article 78 proceeding to reverse the determination and reinstate the building permit, naming the ZBA. The ZBA moved to dismiss the petition for failure to join the nearby property owner as a necessary party, and the nearby property owner moved for leave to intervene. You oppose both motions, arguing that the nearby property owner is not an interested party, because it has only a general interest and has not demonstrated a special or unique damage, or that it will be impacted by a decision in the court proceeding.

Will you defeat the motion to intervene?

The answer is no.

In Springs Fire Dist. v. Town of E. Hampton Zoning Board of Appeals, NYLJ 1520305234NY16240 (Sup. Ct. Suffolk Co. February 21, 2018), the Springs Fire District entered a lease agreement with its wireless service provider to improve the fire department's communications system. The fire district received a building permit in November of 2014 to construct a communications pole with antennas and an equipment area. In January of 2015, a building permit was issued to the fire district's wireless service provider to install antennas on the pole, and construction began in April 2015.

In May, a property owner "in close proximity" to the fire department property submitted an application to the Zoning Board of Appeals to revoke the two permits. After a public hearing, the ZBA revoked the permits in December 2015.

The fire district and the wireless provider commenced a proceeding against the ZBA, the Town Clerk, and the Town Building Department, under CPLR Articles 78 and 30 to vacate, reverse, and reinstate the determination, and for declaratory judgment that the communications facility is not subject to any further review by any agency of the Town. The fire district argues that its facility is not covered under the Town Code definitions, because the fire district does not provide personal or commercial wireless services, as defined in the Town Code, and the Town previously twice determined that similar projects were not subject to the local zoning regulations.

The ZBA moved to dismiss the petition for failure to join the neighbor as a necessary party under CPLR 1001(a). The Court denied the motion, noting that the neighbor was subject to the jurisdiction of the Court.

Meanwhile, the neighbor moved for leave to intervene as an interested owner of property in proximity to the fire department. The Court noted that the power to allow intervention under Article 78(d) is broader than under CPLR 1012 and 1013, citing Matter of Elinor Homes Co. v. St. Lawrence, 113 A.D.2d 25 (2d Dep't 1985). The Court explained that although more than just a general interest is needed, the neighbor played an active and substantial role in the revocation hearing. In addition, the Court reasoned that since the ZBA's decision rests, in part, on non-compliance with SEQRA, an environmental injury is the standard, and a party in close proximity to the premises need not show actual injury or special damages, citing Cremona Food Co., LLC v. Petorne, 304 A.D.2d 606 (2d Dep't 2003). The second requirement, noted the Court, is that the party's concerns fall within the "zone of interests" covered by the zoning laws or SEQRA, citing Cremona, supra. Under the circumstances, the Court determined that the neighbor had more than just a general interest.

Inasmuch as permission to intervene under Article 78 is discretionary with the Court (citing Matter of Pace-O-Matic, Inc. v. New York State Liq. Auth., 78 A.D.3d 1144 [3d Dep't 2010]), the Court granted leave to intervene, because the neighbor was an "interested party" pursuant to CPLR 7802(d).

The lesson? If your client has an interest in the outcome of an Article 78 proceeding concerning a building or zoning decision on a nearby property, and their concerns fall within the "zone of interests" covered by the zoning laws or SEQRA at issue, your client should seek to intervene under the broad discretionary standards offered by CPLR 7802(d).

Separation of Powers: Framework for Freedom

The U.S. Constitution sets out a system of government with distinct and independent branches—Congress, the Presidency, and a Supreme Court. It also defines legislative, executive, and judicial powers and outlines how they interact. These three separate branches share power, and each branch serves as a check on the power of the others. “Ambition must be made to counteract ambition,” James Madison explained in Federalist 51. Why? Madison believed that the Constitution’s principles of separation of powers and checks and balances preserve political liberty. They provide a framework for freedom. Yet, this framework is not self-executing. We the people must continually act to ensure that our constitutional democracy endures, preserving our liberties and advancing our rights. The Law Day 2018 theme enables us to reflect on the separation of powers as fundamental to our constitutional purpose and to consider how our governmental system is working for ourselves and our posterity.
